Was Accident, not Suicide.

The following account of the death of Senator Kaiser of this city appeared in the Bulletin yesterday:

Charles Kaiser, superintendent of the water and electric works in Reno, Nevada, was instantly killed about 8 o'clock this morning by falling three stories from the window of his apartments at 615 Taylor street.

It is the opinion of Dr. T. B. W. Leland, the coroner, that Mr. Kaiser, who had liver complaint, was seized with an attack of vertigo while raising his window, and was unable to protect himself from falling.

The deceased, his wife and his son, came to this State some weeks ago, hoping the change would benefit Mr. Kaiser, who was very sickly. They went to Santa Barbara for a while and returned to this city Tuesday. He had been under the care of Dr. Ward.

This morning Mrs. Kaiser and her son went out of the room in which Mr. Kaiser was sitting for a few minutes. When they returned they were surprised to find the room vacant. On looking out the window they saw several people running along the sidewalk, and on bending over to ascertain what interested them, Mrs. Kaiser and her son were horrified to see that it was the prostrate form of Mr. Kaiser.

Dr. McConnell and Dr. G. Koenigstein, who were in the vicinity, announced Mr. Kaiser dead. The body was removed to the morgue by Deputies McCormick and Donohue. An inquest was held at 10 o'clock. Charles Kaiser was the principal witness. He testified that his father was seventy years old, and was subject to spells of dizziness. He thought death was accidental, and the jury agreed with him.

The Convict's Daughter.

James Blackadder, a trusted employee with Col. Gould for over ten years, has proven himself to be a conspirator and hypocrite. Some years ago Col. Gould adopted a baby girl and kept the secret to his wife and self. Having grown to be a beautiful young lady her hand in marriage was eagerly sought for by a great many admirers. She finally accepts Jack Warburton, a dashing young Southerner, whose father was a great friend of the Colonel's. The secret of her early birth and adoption however is told to her accepted lover, but is also overheard by Blackadder. Chagrined at the loss of his employer's adopted daughter, Blackadder plots her ruin and forges papers on the Colonel. How well he succeeded is best told by witnessing a performance of "The Convict's Daughter" at the opera house Tuesday evening. The plot is indeed a startling one and full of surprises and effects, it is one of the great big melo-dramatic success of the season.

A Few Gleaned Paragraphs of Nevada News.

The Douglas County Flour Mill shipped a carload of flour to Tonopah Monday.

An Indian known as "Dutchy" was shot at Long Valley recently by an Indian boy by accident while hunting.

The Truckee River General Electric Company has declared its regular monthly dividend of 10 cents per share, payable Oct. 21.

Nye county's assessment roll for 1901 shows an increase of about $50,000 over last year. The increase is practically all due to the discovery of the Tonopah mines.

A carload of ore concentrates was delivered at the V. & T. railroad depot today for shipment to the Selby Smelting Works at Vallejo Junction. The concentrates representing the returns from Consolidated California and Virginia first grade ore worked at the Kinkaid mill.—Report.

The people of Tonopah are a big-hearted lot. Recently a man named W. S. Lively was taken sick and the Miners' Union paid out $400 for his care. Last week the union and the people of the town decided that a change of climate would be necessary to restore the sick man to health and a benefit ball was given which netted $195.25. With this money Mr. Lively was sent to the Genoa springs.

Nevada apples like its spuds are in demand in California and the east. A number of buyers from the other side are purchasing all the marketable apples in the market.—Appeal.

An Oil Company Elects Officers.

The Grand Oil Co. held a stockholders' meeting at their office at 242 Virginia street. H. Pennington was elected president; C. E. King, vice-president; Jerry Corecco, secretary; Geo. Ramelkamp, trustee; Gilbert Briggs, trustee; W. P. Schier, trustee, and Bank of Nevada, treasurer. The property is situated in Kern county, Cal., in Sunset Oil District. Mr. Pennington left last night for the oil fields and boring will begin at once.

The company is organized under the laws of this State, and considerable of the stock is held in this vicinity. The property is within fourteen feet of being the lowest in Kern county, and the promoters are confident that they have one of the very best pieces of oil land on the coast.

Much Noise Prevalled.

There was excitement of all sorts on the streets last evening. The ball was started rolling by the University students who marched through the streets singing the college song. NEVADA DEFEATS RELIANCE

Football Is Played as it Ought to Be.

NEVADA ELEVEN RELIANCE ZERO

The Peer of the California Universities Goose-Egged by the Sagebrushers.

Yesterday on the University gridiron was played what was probably the most interesting and hotly contested game ever witnessed in Nevada. Although, as the score, 11 to 0, indicates, the Sagebrush boys were the better players, the Reliance men did magnificent work.

At no time during the game did they show signs of becoming disheartened, but fought bravely against the irresistible energy of their opponents.

At 3 o'clock the referee called the game. Nevada kicked off to Reliance and ball was fought on thirty-yard line and run in fifteen yards, Reliance lost the ball on downs, and by rapid series of plays, Nevada brought the ball within thirty yards of goal line. Keddie tried for a place-kick but failed by a small margin.

After Reliance had kicked to Nevada, the latter began to make strong offensive plays. But through fumbles at critical time, she allowed Reliance to gain possession of the ball whenever she seemed certain of making the touch-down. However, towards the end of the first half, after a Reliance man had made a fumble, Kearney, Nevada's right end, picked up the ball and began a race for the goal, seventy-five or eighty yards away. On and on he went with the Reliance quarter close upon his heels, and finally crossed the goal line after the Reliance man had made a vain attempt to tackle him. This scored the first and only touch-down of the game. Keddie kicked the goal.

The half ended with the ball in Nevada's possession, near the center of the field. Most of the playing had been done in Reliance territory, but the teams had shown themselves very equally matched. Score, six to nothing, in favor of Nevada.

At the beginning of the second half Reliance kicked off to Nevada. Immediately Nevada began to play ball, and was soon within striking distance. Keddie tried for a place-kick, but the odds were too great.

Then began a punting duel in which Graham, Nevada's full-back, did much the better work. Keddie usually caught the punts of the opposing team, and by the most brilliant field work ever seen on the Nevada gridiron often brought the ball back to the place from which it had been kicked.

Reliance could not resist the terrible onslaught of the Sagebrush eleven, and by mass plays and end runs Nevada three times more brought the ball dangerously near the goal line, after having made four futile attempts at place-kicking. Keddie kicked a goal from the thirty-yard line, making the score 11 to 0, with Nevada at the big end.

Throughout the game was a splendid example of Sagebrush prowess. In the second half the visiting eleven did not come any where near equalling the playing of their opponents, Nevada going through them again and again for five and ten yards to the play, and also making several spectacular end runs. The playing was nearly all in Reliance territory. And once, only through a bad fumble did they get nearer than the Varsity's thirty-yard line. Had Reliance not braced well at critical times and had not Nevada been quite so confident, the score might have been larger.

The whole of the Nevada team played well, but some individuals did exceptionally well. Captain Leadbetter's work at stopping bucks has seldom been equalled, and his splendid coolness and excellent judgment, augurs well for the team. Keddie's end-running and bringing back punts was superb. Hunter, Riordan, Smith and Lawrence did splendid defensive work on the line. For the new men Kearney and Graham played like veterans.

The only accident was a sprain of the elbow of Ben Smith, Nevada's star left half. It is to be sincerely hoped that he will recover in time to play in the big game to take place in California, as he is considered the steadiest and most reliable back Nevada has produced. Since neither Berkeley nor Stanford has equalled Nevada's score with Reliance, it seems that our outlook for the games with them are over-bright.

As the over-joyed rooters and co-eds gave the town people to understand nothing like today's score ever before happened; and—

"Do we feel discouraged? Well, we do not think we do!"

Hands Hot Air to the Nevada Team.

J. Wells, left-guard of the Reliance football team, gave the Journal the following interview yesterday regarding the University of Nevada football team:

The Sagebrush boys are all right. They stand a good chance against both the California Universities. Although lighter than the Stanford boys their play is quick and snappy and they have the science of the game down to the queen's taste. They should have a pudding with the Olympic team. There is only one fault I find with their playing. They should be cautioned against advancing ahead of the ball. They will be called down for this in California.

Handsomely Decorated Windows.

A notice was written up and put in type for yesterday's issue calling attention to the handsomely decorated windows in Fleishman's shoe store. Some ill fortune caused the article to be shifted onto a "dead galley" and it failed to appear. Mr. Fleishman went to considerable pains and expense to fit up a handsome football display. His windows were draped in blue and silver. The center of attraction was a water color of a fair co-ed waving a U. of N. banner.

COMPULSORY ARBITRATION.

WHATEVER may be said concerning the effect of the compulsory arbitration law in New Zealand the fact must be admitted that it is a land without strikes. Henry D. Lloyd, who has carefully studied the Australian law is enthusiastic in its praise. The fact that there has not been a strike or lockout in that country for the last five years, while there have been increasing in frequency elsewhere, he refers to as pretty conclusive evidence of the efficacy and beneficence of the system upon which the statute is based. He furthermore shows by statistics that under compulsory arbitration the number of hands employed in factories has largely increased.

A short time ago a commission was sent from New South Wales to New Zealand to investigate the workings of the law, and it reported that there have been no strikes of any magnitude since its adoption. The arbiters have given the workmen shorter hours, higher wages and better conditions of living. Employers are now able to enter into contracts with the certainty of being able to fulfill them.

On the other hand it is claimed that the law has its disadvantages. Complaint is made that the boards are a year behind in their work and that the Court of Arbitration is also in arrears; that the men are taking their employers into court on trivial matters, and the premier has entered a protest against "riding the act to death." It is also charged that the boards of arbitration prolong their sittings in order to increase their salaries; that they encourage disputes and threaten capital, and that only about one third of the cases that have been brought before them have been settled.

Probably both sides of the question have been exaggerated by their respective advocates. But from an unprejudiced standpoint, the preponderance of evidence appears to be in favor of the law, and as a whole is an encouragement, rather than otherwise, to the American Congress to at least try the experiment in the United States. The disadvantages, and the abuses of the law above enumerated can be avoided by proper legislation, so that its wholesome and desirable effects may be attained without encountering the consequences referred to, by the opponents of the Australian statute. The proposition is of course a tentative one, but it is the most promising, and in fact the only one that has been suggested for the settlement of the conflicts which are so frequently occurring between capital and labor.

REGULATION OF DIVORCE.

THE discussion of the question of marriage and divorce at the Episcopal convention at San Francisco, has directed public attention to the subject. The canon which the House of Bishops adopted would actually prevent remarriage of divorced persons by Episcopal clergymen. The only exception made, is in favor of those divorced for cause existing prior to the time of marriage. In the house of deputies Dr. Huntington proposed an amendment making an additional exception in favor of the innocent party in a divorce for adultery. To all other divorcees the marriage ritual of the church is forbidden.

Hirsh's Tabulated Digest of the divorce laws of the United States, lately issued, shows the practice of each State and territory on this point. While remarriage is generally permitted it is restricted by statute in many States. In Alabama, Michigan, Mississippi and Virginia, the court may allow or forbid it at discretion. In Georgia no absolute divorce may be granted except upon the concurrent verdict of two juries at different terms of the court. The second jury determines the disabilities and rights of the parties. This power tends to discourage the securing of a divorce for the purpose of immediate remarriage to another person—a preceeding which sometimes happens under the lax statutes of Missouri. Colorado allows remarriage, but not until a year after the granting of the decree. Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Minnesota have the same restriction with a time limit of six months.

In other States having statutes on this subject, discrimination is made against the guilty party. For instance, in Delaware, Louisiana and Pennsylvania, he may not marry the co-respondent. In Tennessee this restriction exists only during the life of the plaintiff. A Maryland court may forbid the marriage of the guilty party so long as the plaintiff lives. Massachusetts compels the defendant to wait for two years. In South Dakota the only remarriage permitted to the guilty party is with the plaintiff. Vermont endorses this provision for three years after the decree of divorce.

But these restrictions lose part of their force because of the ease of evasion. The person affected has only to remove to another State. One State however, should not shirk its duty in the matter because another does, and the Episcopal church doubtless reasons in the same way. The fact that a powerful ecclesiastical body has placed its ban on a certain social procedure must have great influence. While the public generally may regard the action of the Episcopal church as somewhat drastic, it is encouraging to note that there is a movement against the prevailing laxity on the subject.

AS money appears to be the only thing that will save Miss Stone's life, it should be forthcoming. It is one of those cases where public policy is secondary to the dictates of individual rights and humanity. Better that the bandit miscreants be paid the ransom money than a woman's life, and perhaps more be sacrificed to sustain a principle, which in the present extremity must yield to necessity, which knows no written or unwritten law.

BISHOP LEONARD, of Salt Lake, who is attending the Episcopal conference in San Francisco gave his views on the question of divorce and marriage. He does not favor the proposition to forbid all remarriage, but stands upon the old canon, which, he says, suits him just as it stands, and while it is not all that he would want, it is better than anything that has been proposed. He doesn't believe in going too fast and prefers that the country should come up to the church's level, than that the church should go so far beyond.

WILLIAM WALDORF ASTOR is busily engaged in buying a title for himself in England. He had better insert another s in the middle of his hind name, and let it go at that.

POINTED POLITICAL PARAGRAPHS.
(From the Commoner.)

By a queer coincidence the state that profits most from the business of chartering trusts, combines and monopolies also harbors the worst gang of anarchists in the republic.

Just as long as American naval officers exhibit the kind of "cowardice" and "catif flight" exhibited by Schley at Santiago there is no immediate danger of any foreign navy bombarding our coast.

There is something wrong about the Republican prosperity that makes potatoes worth $1.50 a bushel and fails to furnish a large crop of potatoes.

The Incense of the Sage.

Bishop Whittaker, of the Diocese of Pennsylvania, and wife arrived in the city yesterday morning and will remain in Carson a day or two as the guests of Mrs. H. M. Yerington. The Bishop and his wife, who have not been in Nevada for many years (were life changed after so many years of absence and were warmly greeted by their old friends, says the Appeal.

Mrs. Whittaker first inquired for a little sagebrush, for she said that no matter where she went she wanted that scent to remind her of the days she had spent in the States years ago. She had kept some sprigs in her Philadelphia home for some time, but had given them almost all away to friends, and now that their fragrance was becoming lost, she wanted a fresh supply.

Mrs. Whittaker, like all true Nevada, having once been under the subtle influence of the sagebrush lure, returns to it again as if by instinct, for it is an influence from which none can escape.

The opium eater cannot give up his drug, nor the tippler his wine, and the writers tell of the strange spell that comes over those who have once breathed the scented air of the Hemis. They can rove the world over but there is a lure in the enchantment of those mountains which come from the flowers and rotting woods that brings them back from any land under the sun. One who has ever smelled the scent of the sagebrush after a rain can never forget it while life lasts, and no matter where they roam the inclination to return to the spot will not down.

So it is that the good Bishop and his wife have come back after the long years, to be cheered by the friends of other days and breathe the enchanting atmosphere which no other spot on earth affords.

The Appeal has made an arrangement with the Bishop and his wife by which they are to be supplied yearly with a box of sagebrush sent to Philadelphia. Other friends knowing of this desire on their part can, if they like, send these remembrances that the memory of the State may always be with them.

A FIENDISH ATTACK.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50 cents at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

BRAIN-FOOD NONSENSE.

Another ridiculous food fad has been handed by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Hodgkinson's drug store. Get Green's Special Almanac.

A Talented Reno Writer.

In the last issue of "The Idol" appears a very readable article from the pen of John Harold Hamlin of this city. Its title is "California Hops."

The plot of the story is this: A young man emigrates from his ancestral home way back east, leaving the maternal care of a couple of maiden aunts and, with his young bride, tries to cleave out a fortune on a California ranch. The ravages of grasshoppers prevent his harvesting a crop and he writes home for money. They regard the grasshopper story as an unlikely one and so write him.

The young rancher digs up a myriad of grasshopper eggs and sends them to his aunts, labeled, "Seeds of California Hops." They are planted and carefully watched. Soon a host of lively young hoppers are destroying all the "garden sassa," so carefully reared by the aunts. They tumble at last to the point and soon a check for $2000 is hurrying westward.

Mr. Hamlin treats the theme in light and airy style. Magazine publishers are eager for his stories.

WHAT'S YOUR FACE WORTH?

Sometimes a fortune, but never, if you have a sallow complexion, a jaundiced look, moth patches and blotches on the skin—all signs of Liver Trouble. But Dr. King's New Life Pills give clear skin, rosy cheeks, rich complexion. Only 25 cents at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

STEPPED INTO LIVE COALS.

"When a child I burned my foot frightfully," writes W. H. Eads, of Jonesville, Va., "which caused horrible leg sores for 30 years, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured me after everything else failed." Infallible for Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Sores, Bruises and Piles. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson, 25 cents.

SEEDS! SEEDS!
